

In Depth: “The Case For Luxembourg”

Stockholm (HedgeNordic) – In our new series, “in depth”, which we are happy to introduce, HedgeNordic will be looking at specific areas and segments of the financial industry and have this highlighted on the website and dedicated a full month to the topic.

In one of the first topics, we are discussing “the case for Luxembourg” as a fund domicile, and its relevance for the Nordic markets.

The series of articles will look into how the small Dutchy of Luxembourg managed to gain the strong position it holds as financial hub, various fund structures, and regimes, impact on distribution of funds on home and foreign markets, the specifics for hedge funds, and other alternative investments, such as real estate and private equity, the impact Brexit could have on Luxembourg as a European financial center – and more.
