

Webinar: The Race to Innovate Fund Services

What technology capability will separate the winners from the losers in today's cost-cutting environment? Find out by replaying this Global Fund Media webinar, moderated by James Williams, with an expert panel including: Jason Baldesare, Director, Strategy and Solutions Management, Buy-Side Solutions, FIS; Adrian Holt, Product Manager and Strategy Owner, FIS; Jason Stevens, CTO, Ultimus Fund Solutions, LLC; and Simon Bodjanski, Senior Relationship Management Director, TMF Group...

As risk continues to grow, so too is the sophistication of risk management systems. Innovative technology and services can put fund administrators in a stronger position to manage cyber, reputational, regulatory and operational risks – and maintain the integrity of their greatest asset: data. But achieving that level of sophistication is far from easy as administrators face a continued race to zero, largely in response to fund managers coping with pressure on margins and profitability. Our panelists discuss:

- What cutting-edge technology is available to fund administrators to enhance their value proposition to clients
- Winning strategies for fund administrators and fund servicers to stay ahead
- How to navigate the complexities of risk management
- How value-added middle-office solutions can maximise output and efficiency
- The latest risk, performance analytics and middle-office reporting tools
