

Capital Four Expands Investment Team

Stockholm (HedgeNordic) – Danish sub-investment credit manager Capital Four Management has extended its investment team with the hiring of Elizabeth Holmenlund as vice president. Holmenlund joins Capital Four from J.P. Morgan in London, where she spent almost six years.

“After almost 9 years in London (and a well-deserved gardening leave), I am very excited to announce that I have relocated back to Copenhagen to join the Investment Team at Capital Four Management,” Holmenlund writes on LinkedIn. “I look very much forward to the challenges and opportunities in this new role, as well as to connect and reconnect with friends, colleagues and clients.”

Most recently, Holmenlund worked in the European credit sales team at J.P. Morgan, covering German and Nordic institutional clients across a wide range of credit products such as corporate and financial bonds, credit derivatives and structured credit. Holmenlund joins a team of about 90 people at Capital Four, with a large majority being investment professionals.

“The addition of Elizabeth Holmenlund is part of the ongoing expansion of our investment team, given our strong growth in assets under management and newly launched strategies, expanding our coverage of Leveraged Finance,” Capital Four comments on Holmenlund joining the firm. Co-founded by CEO Sandro Näf in 2007, Capital Four is a Copenhagen-based asset manager focusing on high yield bonds, leveraged loans and other asset classes and instruments in the sub-investment grade space.

The credit manager had a team of six people about ten years ago, when the firm launched its opportunistic fund investing in sub-investment grade credit. Capital Four Credit Opportunities, which has the flexibility to look for alpha opportunities across the entire spectrum of credit markets, reached its ten-year anniversary at the beginning of 2020. Capital Four recently launched two new funds focusing on opportunities in structured credit.
